Welcome to the Fourth Quarter

The final push of the year has started! The next seven to eight weeks will be the busiest and most important time of our school year. The weather is changing and our softball, baseball, track, and other outside activities will be kicking into high gear. Our students at the elementary, junior high school, and high school level will be taking important state tests. It is an extremely important time for our students to put in their best effort on school work and as a district we are beginning plans for the 2018 school year while putting the finishing touches on 2017. Graduation and Promotional Ceremonies are being planned, as is the Senior Awards Night. Soon we will be saying goodbye to our seniors, classmates for the summer break, and teachers. All of this is exciting and a bit scary as we realize that the 2016-17 school year is quickly coming to an end.

However, we still have a lot of work to be done. The fourth quarter can be filled with distractions so we have to do our best to help our students stay focused and be successful during this final stretch. It is still important to read with and to our students, help them with projects and spelling words, and be confident that this will be the best quarter of the year. A simple goal is to achieve one letter grade higher this quarter than they did last quarter. If they got an S last quarter, get an S+ this quarter. If they got a B, make it an A this quarter.

As we complete this school year let's focus on this quote, "Start by doing what's necessary, then what's possible, and suddenly you are doing the impossible." Make the fourth quarter the time our students are doing the impossible!

Enjoy the beautiful weather and go Hornets!

Go Hornets!
